Re: Reporting Changes within the Office of Research

It gives me great pleasure to announce reporting changes within the Office of Research that we anticipate will improve the services we offer.

In order to consolidate research services across the Office of Research, Animal Care Services will now be overseen by the Associate Vice-President (Research Services). The co-directors of ACS, Drs. Anna Bolinder and Marcus Litman, will therefore report directly to the AVP (Research Services), effective immediately.

In keeping with the best practices detailed by the Canadian Council on Animal Care, the Chair of the Animal Care Committee, Professor Ann Wilson, will report directly to the Vice-President Research, effective immediately.

In order to advance research communications across the entirety of the Office of Research, and to bolster alignment of research communications with broader university communications, Research Communications will now function directly under the oversight of the Vice-President Research. Consistent with this, the Director of Research Communications, Mr. Owen Roberts, will report directly to the VPR, effective September 1st, 2015.
