UNIV*7100 Academic Integrity for Graduate Students

Academic Integrity for Graduate Students (UNIV*7100) was developed by Graduate Studies and Writing Services to ensure that all graduate students have a good understanding of academic integrity and of related policies and expectations at the University of Guelph.

Who must take the course?

All students registering in a graduate program for the first time as of Winter 2013 must successfully complete this course in their first semester by the 20th class day, Feb. 1, 2013.

Where is the course?

The course is hosted online in CourseLink.

How do students complete the course?

All graduate students will be automatically enrolled in the course. It will be open on Jan. 7, 2013. Students can go directly to CourseLink to access the course.

How long will it take students to complete the course?

The course is expected to take 1-2 hours to complete, though this may vary from student to student.

Step 1: Students log in to CourseLink using their central login ID (the same ID they use to access Gryphmail).

Step 2: Students select the course from their CourseLink home page.

Step 4: To pass the course, students take the quiz (under the “Quiz” tab at the top of the page). They must score 8 out of 10 to pass. Students can re-take the quiz until they pass.

Step 5: Students who pass the quiz will receive a SAT (satisfactory) grade on their transcripts at the end of the semester. NOTE: Students who do not complete the course will receive an UNS (unsatisfactory) on their transcripts and will be required to take the course again the next semester they are registered.

Where can students find help?

Students can email Writing Services writing@uoguelph.ca or call Kim Garwood ext. 56350 if they have questions or problems.

Academic Integrity for Graduate Students UNIV*7100 information sessions will be held at the start of the semester, and these will be posted on Reg (www.uoguelph.ca/studentaffairs/reg/).
