

Día de los muertos

(Day of the Dead)

The School of Languages and Literatures is pleased to invite you to:

“La tradicional ofrenda mexicana del Día de los Muertos”

(The Traditional Mexican Shrine to the Dead).

In the Mexican cosmogony, the principle of death and life is represented through the symbolic OFRENDAS (Shrines) set up for the dead every year, on November 1st and 2nd, when the country lightens up to welcome Death!

Join this joyful celebration of life through death on Thursday, November 1st , at 7:00 p.m. in MacKinnon Building, Room 261 Enter main doors facing library & take basement elevator to 2nd floor
