Department of History Newsletter

Winter 2015

New Chair of Scottish Studies Program

In January, the new Chair of Scottish Studies, Dr. James Fraser, returned to the program where he completed his MA fifteen years ago (1999). Having previously been Senior Lecturer in Early Scottish History at the University of Edinburgh (2002-15), he comes to Guelph with his two children and his partner, Dr. Bronagh Ni Chonaill, who will join the departmental teaching team in 2015-16 after ten years as a History and Celtic professor at the University of Glasgow. His aims for Scottish Studies are to maintain Guelph's stature in North America and internationally as a centre of excellence for the study of the Scottish past and the historic links between Scotland and Canada (not least through our own Scottish collections), as well as to expand the Centre's public mission where opportunities exist to work productively with heritage groups, the media, and public bodies on both sides of the Atlantic. James is a leading expert on early medieval Scotland, and hopes to be able to inspire undergraduate and graduate interest in this period of European history.

ALUMNI NEWS

Leslie James, previously a Lecturer in the Cambridge History Faculty, has secured a fellowship with the University of Birmingham as the Leverhulme Early Career Fellow at the Department of African Studies and Anthropology. She will be using the period to work on her second book.

Tara Hedican, History alumnus, has been appointed as an instructor at Confederation College

Katie McCullough (PhD 2014) has landed a job as the Director of the Scottish Studies centre at Simon Fraser University Daniel McLeod, (PhD 2013) is now teaching at the University of Manitoba

Joshua MacFadyen (PhD '10) has recently started a 3-year postdoc at the University of Saskachewan soon after his SSHRC postdoc expired at Western.

Holly Karibo (BA '06), Assistant Professor of History at Tarleton State University, US, has an article out this month in Social History/Histoire sociale "Swashbuckling Criminals and Border Bandits: Fighting Vice in North America's Borderlands, 1945-1960" Vol.47, #95, pp.705-728

Sean Grant	October 24, 2014	MA(Thesis)
Rochelle Pereira	December 8, 2014	PhD
Gillian Forth	December 11, 2014	MA (MRP)
Sara Wilmshurst	December 11, 2014	MA (Thesis
Andrew Webb	January 5, 2015	MA (MRP)
Evan Tigchelaar	January 6, 2015	MA (Thesis

PUBLICATIONS AND AWARDS

Fernand Hibbert 2 Romulus

Matthew Robertshaw (currently in the History MA program) published his translation of a Haitian novel by Fernand Hibbert, Romulus, Deux Voiliers Publishing, 2014. It was reviewed recently in The Journal of Haitian Studies.

Leslie James, Leverhulme Early Career Fellow, at the University of Birmingham has iust recently published her first book, on the pan-Africanist Padmore, George with Palgrave publish

ONTARIO

HISTORY

Jerome Teelucksingh, a History alumnu and

A Novella from 19th Century Haiti Translated by Matthew Robertshaw

> Lecturer in history at the Universitv of the West Indies at Trinidad has a book new out with Palarave: Labour and Decolonization Struggle in Trinidad and Tobago. Dr. Teelucksingh works have focused on the history of Afro-Caribbean activists and intellectuals. on Indo-Caribbean Diaspora in North America; on Pan-

Africanism; on race, gender, and ethnic relations in the Caribbean; as well as labour history and the impact of Carnival and Calypso on Trinidad and Tobago's society. His other books include The Cost of Freedom: The Struggles of the Caribbean Working Class, 1894-1950 and Lost Gospel: Christianity and Blacks in North America (2010)

Three affiliated members of the department, respectively, a MA History alumni, a sessional instructor, and a current doctoral student, were authors in the Fall 2014 edition of Ontario History:

Christopher Los, "A Danger and a Nuisance: Regulating the Automobile in Ontario, 1903-1912"

Rebecca Beausaert, "Not Guilty, but Guilty: Race, Rumour, and Respectability in the 1882 Abortion Trial of Letitia Munson"

Mark Sholdice, "Patronage, like Hamlet's ghost down!": Ontario's Farmer-Labour will not Government and Political Patronage, 1919-1923".

lan Mosby, until last vear a postdoctoral fellow with the History department. held a launching for his new book. Food Will Win the War: The Politics, Culture, and Science of Food On Canada's Home Front (UBC Press, 2014) on Friday, November 28 at 2:30pm at the Harbord Room (150 Harbord Street)

WORKSHOPS AND CONFERENCES

MESS: War Peace and Justice in the Middle East

On Thursday Nov. 6th, at the War Memorial Hall, Dr Norman Finkelstein delivered a lecture entitled "After Gaza: The Future of the Struggle For a Just Peace in Israel And Palestine." Begining at 7.00 pm, it was sponsored by the Middle East Scholars Society, together with Arab Students Association, OPIRG, CJPME for the program on War, Peace and Justice in the Middle East.

Winter 2015

Gateway Seminar on

"History Education, Diverse Careers"

An informal discussion with Guelph History graduates:

Joe Cull, Archaeologist and Lauren Katsuno, Teacher.

Wednesday, January 28,

5:30-7:00pm, MacKinnon 231

All History students welcome.

Pizza & pop will be provided.

TIDBITS

ANNOUNCEMENTS

The History Department presents

RURAL HISTORY ROUNDTABLE:

SPEAKER SERIES WINTER 2015

LISA COX

Postdoctoral Fellow, Ontario Veterinary College "Canada's War Horses: The OVC, Veterinary Medicine, and the Great War, 1914-1918" WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 4, 3:30PM-5:00PM MacKinnon Building, Room 132

JACK LITTLE

Professor, Department of History, Simon Fraser University "History of Oxen and Horse Power in Rural Canada from the 17th to the 20th Centuries" THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 26, 1:00-2:30PM MacKinnon Building, Room 132

DAVID ZYLBERBERG

Postdoctoral Research Fellow, University of British Columbia Okanagan "Warm, Well-fed and Employed? Fuel Prices and Regional Lifestyle Divergences in Rural England, 1750-1830" THURSDAY, MARCH 12, 1:00-2:30PM MacKinnon Building, Room 132

MIKE COMMITO

PhD Candidate, Department of History, McMaster University "Yvon and the Five Bears: Rural and Urban Attitudes Towards Black Bear Hunting in Northern Ontario"

TUESDAY, MARCH 31, 1:00-2:30PM MacKinnon Building, Room 132

Sponsored by The Francis and Ruth Redelmeier Professorship in Rural History

N^{de}

COLLEGE of ARTS

UNIVERSITY

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Lauren Witte (current undergrad History major) On behalf of the Medieval Studies program at St. worked last semester as a bilingual interpretive guide at the Canadian War Memorial at Vimy Ridge in France.

U of G alumni are invited to attend the largest job fair of its kind in the country and network with more than 150 employers on Feb. 4.

Stuart McCook on October 29, 2014, was "In the Gallery" He spoke on "Memory and Harvest"" at the Macdonald Stewart Art Centre

Sofie Lachapelle, on November 19, 2014 at the "In the Gallery", spoke on "The Ghost in the Image" at the Macdonald Stewart Art Centre

News from UofG Scottish Studies

- The program held a successful Fall Colloquium on 4 October with visiting speaker Professor Michael Lvnch from Scotland.

- In September 2014, Scottish Studies welcomed three new graduate students

- Sean Grant and Andrew Webb both completed their MAs. Daniel Woolf (PhD 2013) is now teaching at the University of Manitoba.

- The Guelph Scottish Chapbook Digitization Project (providing online open-access to roughly 600 chapbooks from the library collection)which has involved graduate students Sierra Dye, Marian Toledo Candelaria and Emily Pauw (MA 2014) will be launched this semester.

- In March The Scottish Studies program will be welcoming Dr Alex Woolf as a Visiting Professor part of its exchange agreement with ST Andrews University in Scotland.

Jerome's University in the University of Waterloo, I invite you all to attend the 2014-2015 Medieval Lecture Series. The following is a timeline for the different events:

- Thurs, Oct. 23, 4:30-6:00- Poisoned Past Book Launch - Dr. Steven Bednarski, UW Bookstore

- Thurs. Nov. 13, 4:30-6:00 - Dr. Isabelle Cochelin from the University of Toronto, "New Perspectives on the History of Medieval Western Monasticism." SJU 3027

- Thurs. Feb. 5, 4:30-6:00 - Dr. Richard Greenfield from Queen's University, "Maxing the Sanctity: Maximos Kavsokalyvites and his Fourteenth-Century Athonite Hagiographers." Location TBA

- Thurs. Mar. 12, 4:30-6:00 - Dr. Sara M. Butler from Loyola University, New Orleans, "Anatomy of a Crime: Death Investigation in Medieval England." Location TBA

We have a very exciting schedule lined up, and I hope to see you there. (Andrew Moore, PhD Candidate, History Department, University of Waterloo)

Underhill Graduate Student Colloquium.

To be considered, graduate students from any discipline are encouraged to submit abstracts of no more than 300 words, along with a short biography, to underhill@carleton.ca. We encourage papers which address historical performances or performed pasts, but we welcome submissions on any topic focusing on the past.

The Underhill Graduate Student Colloquium strives to be an interdisciplinary forum where scholars from different fields can come together and share their scholarship. For more information, please visit http://www.carleton.ca/underhill, and follow us on Twitter.

Sincerely, Meghan Lundrigan & Alex Wilkinson, CoChairs, Underhill Colloquium Planning Committee 201415

In Memoriam

Dr. A Margaret Evans, who was previously a

Professor and Chair of History Department, passed away on Saturday December 20, 2014 at the age of 100 years. The funeral service that celebrated her life was conducted on December 27th at which occasion the History Department was represented

ANNOUNCEMENTS

RE:LOCATIONS: JOURNAL OF THE ASIA-PACIFIC WORLD - CALL FOR SUBMISSIONS

Based out of the Asian Institute at the University of Toronto, Re:locations: Journal of the Asia-Pacific World is a new peer-reviewed, student-run journal that seeks to foster dialogue among student researchers working across disciplines, institutions, and regions in Asia and the Pacific.

Re:locations is inviting submissions for a special issue to be published online in Spring 2015, "Leveled: The Meaning and Making of Disaster in Asia." Over the past decade, Asia has featured in global headlines as the locus of disasters that are unprecedented in complexity and scope. From the 2004 Indian Ocean tsunami to the 2011 earthquake that precipitated the Fukushima nuclear disaster, these tragedies hint at new forms of calamity that extend far beyond national borders and challenge distinctions between "natural" and "manmade" disasters. Re:locations is seeking papers, reviews, poetry, and artwork that examine the impact that disasters have had on the region from cultural, environmental, economic, political, and historical perspectives. Themes may include, but are not limited to:

- Exploring the limits of current "disaster management" paradigms, and evaluating historical shifts in how disasters are perceived and managed

- Analyzing the different impact of disaster on marginalized groups

- Exploring the role of religious and civil society groups in post-disaster scenarios

- Investigating the politics of international aid in Asia

- Examining how disaster is framed in art and media

- Investigating the impact that recent disasters have had on climate change policy and public perceptions of risk and climate change in the region

Journal submissions should be emailed to the Senior Editor at relocationsjournal@gmail.com

Tri-Univesity Annual History Conference 2015 March 7

