COURSE DESCRIPTION:

Applied music courses consist of private instruction in the chief practical area (instrument or voice), including a study of technique and repertoire. Studio lessons are offered equivalent to one 50-minute lesson per week for 12 weeks. The principal objectives are to increase the student's skill and technical achievement and to broaden his or her knowledge of the repertoire for the chosen instrument and the different styles of performance that are suited to it. It is anticipated that students will study a broad selection of repertoire by completing more than one course in Applied Music, and students are therefore encouraged to consider enrolling for at least a year or more in order to achieve the best overall level of achievement. Auditions for Applied Music are restricted to students in semesters 1-4 and to students who have declared either a MUSIC MAJOR or a MUSIC MINOR, or Music as an Area of Concentration (for the General or B.A.S. Degree). Provided that there is no break in the continuation of applied study from one semester to the next, and the student obtains a final grade of 70% or higher, no further audition is required to advance to the next level. Specific prerequisites for Applied Music courses at the 200-level and beyond are listed below.

LEARNING OUTCOMES

- Aesthetic maturity and a sense of historical development of styles and genres of music
- Advanced musical literacy
- Increased kinaesthetic awareness of sound production in the chosen medium
- Increased confidence as a performing artist

METHOD OF EVALUATION:

The evaluation of Applied Music done on a semesterly basis but with a view toward annual assessment in the form of a juried performance. Each level of Applied Music (1500, 2500, 3500, etc.) therefore begins with one semester of study that is evaluated entirely by the instructor and based on accomplishment of the technical and artistic goals as discussed by the teacher and student. The second semester of study at each level (1500, 2510, 3510) has a juried performance, which is judged and graded with a numerical score by a panel of instructors. The instructor's term mark for the student is then combined with the average mark of the jurors. Juries are held during the examination period at the end of the semesters. Completion of MUSC*3510 and MUSC*4401/2 requires a juried public recital, which is presented during the final examination period. Final (course) grades are determined as follows:

Applied Music Course	Type of Evaluation	Percentage of Weight toward Final Mark
MUSC*1500	Instructor's evaluation of term work	100%
MUSC*1510	Instructor's evaluation of term work Juried performance	50% 50%
MUSC*2500	Instructor's evaluation of term work	100%
