CALENDAR DESCRIPTION:

This course is an introduction to the creative application of photography in art, and the basic principles of traditional photochemical and digital photography.

Prerequisite(s): (1 of ARTH*1220, ARTH*1510, ARTH*1520), SART*1050, SART*1060 ;
(SART*1060 can be taken as co-requisites.)

COURSE DESCRIPTION:

Students do not need previous photographic experience in this course. Instruction will include the use of analogue and digital photographic processes and the creative applications of the following photographic techniques: depth of field, shutter speed, and focal lengths; lighting, lighting ratios, and reflective/incident light metering; photograms created in the traditional photo-chemical darkroom; digital file conversion/printing; compositional principles; and modes of presentation. Material will be presented through lectures, demonstrations, class discussion, and through individual and group critiques. Emphasis will be placed on the development of ideas and concepts that are realized through technical skill, exploratory assignments, references to contemporary uses of photography and issues in photographic practices, and presentations on current photographers, plus experimentation with materials and techniques.

Note (1): This is an art course, so commercial photography techniques are not covered.

Note (2): This is a 0.5 credit course. Each week, students are expected to spend approximately 4–6 hours outside of class on related course work. Technical workshops, presentations, critiques, lectures, and discussions will happen during class time, and will not be repeated.

Students will learn:

- The basic functions of the camera and their creative applications, including: composition, depth of field, shutter speed, and perspective using different focal length lenses.
- To forge connections between contemporary and historical issues in photography, and to critically discuss digital and material forms of image making.
- The basics of controlled tungsten lighting in a studio environment, through the use of lighting ratios and light meters to pre-visualize and create a range of lighting effects.
- How to compose interesting images that effectively employ the photographic frame.
- The difference between a material photographic print (in the form of photograms) and digital images that are not printed but are widely disseminated.
- Various technical skills, including darkroom techniques (Photograms), dry-mounting, film processing, light metering (incident and reflective), RAW conversion, digital contact sheets, and digital printing.

Students will learn to use the following tools:

- Different focal length lenses
- Digital SLR cameras, set on RAW mode
- 35 mm film cameras
- Flatbed scanners
- Tungsten studio lights and accessories
- Reflective and incident meters
- Photoshop (RAW conversion; Image Sizing; Retouching; Contact Sheets)
- Traditional photo-chemical darkroom printing (photograms)
- Dry mounting press

University Learning Outcomes:

The five approved outcomes, both undergraduate and graduate are:

1. Critical and Creative Thinking
2. Literacy
3. Global Understanding
4. Communicating
5. Professional and Ethical Behaviour

These five Senate-approved learning outcomes serve as the basis from which to guide the development of degree programs, specializations and courses; as a framework to ensure outcomes are clear to students and to support their achievement; and to inform the process of assessment of outcomes through institutional quality reviews of programs and departments.

COURSE TEXT: (available at the bookstore):

1. A Short Course in Photography: Digital. 3rd edition (paperback) by Barbara London (Author), Jim Stone (Author). New Jersey: Pearson Prentice Hall (available at the book store)

METHOD OF EVALUATION AND DUE DATES:

Technical exercises will be graded on the demonstrated level of technical skill in the assignment, as well as on composition. Major projects will be graded on the visualization of their intent, the level of conceptual development, thoroughness, originality, technical competence, and self-critique.

Assignment	Value	Due Date
Technical Assignment #1 (Photograms)	10%	TBA
Looking/Seeing Portfolio	10%	TBA
Technical Assignment #2 (Manual Camera Controls)	20% (Parts I, II, III: 10% Part IV: 10%)	TBA
Reading Responses	10%	TBA
Pushing the limits – Dorothea Lange	10%	TBA
Technical Assignment #3 (Lighting)	10%	TBA
Major Project: Intervention in the Landscape	20%	TBA
Attendance and Participation	10%	Throughout the term

CLASS REQUIREMENTS:

1. Three technical assignments, Photograms, Manual Camera Controls (depth-of-field, shutter speeds, and focal lengths), and Lighting, will be assigned and executed using analogue and digital photographic techniques. Technical assignment #1 (photograms) represents 10% of the final grade. Technical assignment #2 (manual camera controls) represents 20% of the final grade, and technical assignment #3 (lighting) is worth 10% of the final grade.
2. As an introduction to contemporary and historical issues in photography, students will be assigned readings and are required to highlight segments of the texts and make notations in preparation for a written reading response. The two readings are Observing by Watching by Geoffrey Batchen, and Excerpts from Camera Lucida by Roland Barthes. Reading responses are 2-3 pages double-spaced, and participation in discussions will also be used to assess full understanding of the assigned reading(s). Value: 10%
3. For the Looking/Seeing portfolio, students will draw three photographs that make an impact on them and provide a self-reflective statement to accompany each drawing. Value: 10%
4. For the Pushing the Limits assignment, students will be asked to challenge themselves to get up very early to shoot the morning light, or to shoot during adverse weather conditions. Moments of hardship often produce the most rewarding experiences and results for photographers. Value: 10%
5. One major creative project represents 20% of the final grade. This project will be shot on black and white 35 mm film, processed, scanned, and printed on inkjet. Conceptual development and creative exploration are of prime concern. This is a multi-stage project and will include individual/class discussions, a digital maquette stage, and critiques.

6. Students are expected to actively engage in all exercises and demonstrations, arrive on time and be ready to work with all necessary supplies, demonstrate a good working methodology and quality classroom participation. Attendance and vocal participation in critiques, seminars, discussions, and readings is also expected.
