HIST*3480, Workplace Learning: Miscreants & Rascals
Department of History, Fall 2018
Instructor & Workplace Supervisor: Dr Kris Inwood

Course Synopsis:
This independent study course provides direct experience in the creation and analysis of data describing Canadians imprisoned during the 19th and early 20th. The lives of these people are documented in admission registers for the Kingston Penitentiary, Stony Mountain (Manitoba) Penitentiary, two Saskatchewan jails (Prince Albert and Regina) and three British Columbia jails (Victoria, Nanaimo and New Westminster). By the fall of 2018 we expect to be working on the Toronto Central Prison. Your experiential learning opportunity will involve transcribing the prison registers online in order to make rare but highly useful documents more accessible for researchers now and in the future. In connecting this work experience to your academic discipline you will write a series of short critical reflections and a research paper analyzing what can be learned about the patterns of offences and offenders using the prison register as a primary source.

Course Format:
Independent work with scheduled meetings.

Learning Outcomes:
2. Ability to understand 19th-century handwriting & vocabulary.
4. Knowledge of research practices.
5. Ability to critically reflect upon your own work.
6. Ability to critically assess the strengths and weaknesses of criminal justice records as sources.

Methods of Evaluation:
Transcriptions 40%
Weekly Critical Reflections 20%
Final Essay 40%

Texts and/or Resources Required:
No Required Textbook
Project Timeline

Week 1 meeting: Pre-arranged group meeting with Professor Inwood to view the prison registers. Instructions will be established and training started for reading cursive, transcribing, and researching the prison and its social context. You will also learn about the questions and quantitative methods with which to mine the prison records for meaning.

Week 3 meeting: Your first set of transcriptions is due. No grade will be assigned to your work at this point. This is an opportunity for Dr. Inwood to see how you are doing and address any issues early in the semester.

Week 5 meeting: The first collection of weekly Critical Reflections is due covering weeks 1-5. You will verbally report on the topic you will do for your essay.

Week 10 meeting: The second collection of weekly Critical Reflections covering weeks 6-10 is due. At this meeting, we also will discuss the final essay/document analysis.

Week 12: Your complete set of transcriptions is due.

Week 13: essay/document analysis is due.

Please note: This is a preliminary web course description only. The department reserves the right to change without notice any information in this description. The final, binding course outline will be distributed in the first class of the semester.