Wayne J. Caldwell (Ph.D., RPP, MCIP) is Associate Vice-President Research at the University of Guelph and a Professor in Rural Planning. He has previously served as Dean of the Ontario Agricultural College and as Director of the School of Environmental Design and Rural Development. His interests include planning for agriculture and community-based approaches to economic and environmental issues. His most recent books include: Planning for Rural Resilience, Better Decisions, Together: A Facilitation Guide for Community Engagement, and Attracting and Retaining Newcomers in Rural Communities and Small Towns. He has served as Chair or President of a number of local, provincial and national organizations and is a passionate advocate for the betterment of rural communities.