

The Guelph Conference in Environmental Philosophy will be held at 42 Carden street, downtown Guelph. It is across the street from city hall. The conference will be held on the 4th floor of the building. You enter at the street and take an elevator or stairs to the venue.

The conference is up here.

Please note that parking could be limited, especially on Saturday. Two of the main parking lots downtown are under construction. So if you have an option to car pool or use public transit, that would be a good thing. Here is a map of the available parking lots in relation to the conference venue. There is a flat fee of $2.00 per day on Saturdays. Street parking is also available, but scarce.
