1 Course Details

1.1 Calendar Description
This course will investigate the art, architecture, and visual and material culture of Renaissance Italy in its political, social, religious, intellectual and theoretical contexts. Topics can include artistic training and practice; methods, materials and techniques of art-making; science and perspective; patronage; collectors and collecting; public monuments and domestic art; Renaissance theory; humanism; artistic biography; and other thematic contexts.

Pre-Requisites: 2.00 credits or (ARTH*1510 or ARTH*1520)

1.2 Course Description
This course focuses on major artistic developments of the fifteenth and sixteenth centuries, centered on new discoveries about the science of representation and the new intellectual current of humanism. These discoveries were fundamental to the art and architectural accomplishments of the High Renaissance in Florence, Rome and Venice. We will pursue key themes in Renaissance painting, sculpture, architecture, prints and printing, textiles, ceramics, jewelry making and various forms of cultural production in the domestic, religious, economic, political and social contexts of Renaissance Italy – from courts to cathedrals, from weddings to funerals, from birth to death, from gods to monsters.

4 Learning Outcomes

4.1 Course Learning Outcomes

By the end of this course, you should be able to:

1. Evaluate the aesthetic, historical, social, and ethical significance of the visual realm that underlies our understanding of the Italian Renaissance.
2. Construct plausible methods of analysis in the field of art history and visual culture.
3. Develop a broader and deeper understanding of how visual images inflect and change our understanding of historical events.
4. Identify the major debates that have shaped the discipline of art history and visual culture and situate methodologies and approaches within or without these historiographical contexts.

5 Teaching and Learning Activities

5.1 Lecture

Topics: The professor is an expert on the material, and they design their lectures to organize the main ideas and extract the important concepts. Attending class and taking good notes can help you to put the ideas together and focus on what’s important. Nothing can explain ideas better than another person can. The lectures convey content, shape your understanding of art history as a discipline with its own distinct structures of cognition, and provide you with methods and means to assimilate information and model your own evolving expertise on the subject.

6 Assessments

6.1 Assessment Details

Mid-term Test (25%)
Date: Tue, Feb 11, In-class
The format of the test will be explained in class

The Impresa and Medal Project (15%)
Due: Thu, Mar 26, In-class
An impresa is the combination of a "device" (a symbolic image) with a "motto" (a short sentence or phrase chosen as encapsulating the beliefs or ideals guiding an individual, family, or institution). Impresa became important markers of identity in the Renaissance, and were found chiefly on medals that were circulated to enhance reputation and fame. In this assignment, students will create their own impresa, based on an imaginary Renaissance figure. Details will be given in class.

The Palazzo Project (30%)

Due: Thu, Mar 19, In-class

In this project, students will design and furnish a room in a Renaissance palazzo, with objects chosen from museum collections that would be typical of the period, and that speak to a specific Renaissance family in terms of their iconography. In other words, students will contextualize art, artifacts, architecture and other objects to demonstrate their understanding of Renaissance visual culture. Details will be given out in class.

Final Exam (0%)

Date: Date TBA; usually written in MACK 114

The format of the exam will be discussed in class.

7 University Statements

7.1 Email Communication

As per university regulations, all students are required to check their e-mail account regularly: e-mail is the official route of communication between the University and its students.

7.2 When You Cannot Meet a Course Requirement

When you find yourself unable to meet an in-course requirement because of illness or compassionate reasons please advise the course instructor (or designated person, such as a teaching assistant) in writing, with your name, id#, and e-mail contact. The grounds for Academic Consideration are detailed in the Undergraduate and Graduate Calendars.

7.4 Copies of Out-of-class Assignments

Keep paper and/or other reliable back-up copies of all out-of-class assignments: you may be asked to resubmit work at any time.

7.5 Accessibility

The University promotes the full participation of students who experience disabilities in their academic programs. To that end, the provision of academic accommodation is a shared responsibility between the University and the student.

When accommodations are needed, the student is required to first register with Student Accessibility Services (SAS). Documentation to substantiate the existence of a disability is required; however, interim accommodations may be possible while that process is underway.

Accommodations are available for both permanent and temporary disabilities. It should be noted that common illnesses such as a cold or the flu do not constitute a disability.

Use of the SAS Exam Centre requires students to book their exams at least 7 days in advance and not later than the 40th Class Day.

For Guelph students, information can be found on the SAS website
https://www.uoguelph.ca/sas

For Ridgetown students, information can be found on the Ridgetown SAS website

7.6 Academic Integrity

The University of Guelph is committed to upholding the highest standards of academic integrity, and it is the responsibility of all members of the University community-faculty, staff, and students-to be aware of what constitutes academic misconduct and to do as much as possible to prevent academic offences from occurring. University of Guelph students have the responsibility of abiding by the University's policy on academic misconduct regardless of their location of study; faculty, staff, and students have the responsibility of supporting an environment that encourages academic integrity. Students need to remain aware that instructors have access to and the right to use electronic and other means of detection.

Please note: Whether or not a student intended to commit academic misconduct is not relevant for a finding of guilt. Hurried or careless submission of assignments does not excuse students from responsibility for verifying the academic integrity of their work before submitting it. Students who are in any doubt as to whether an action on their part could be construed as an academic offence should consult with a faculty member or faculty advisor.
