1 Course Details

1.1 Calendar Description

This course is for students who have completed either first year University Spanish or 4U Spanish as well as for those who are heritage speakers. This course examines cultural topics and grammatical structures in greater depth while focusing on vocabulary acquisition, and development of oral, written, and listening skills.

1.2 Course Description

SPAN*2000 is intended for students who have successfully completed SPAN*1110, students who have successfully completed Grade 12 Spanish or its equivalent, and native speakers of Spanish who wish to improve their understanding of Spanish grammar and their writing skills in Spanish. The course is designed to increase reading, comprehension, writing, and speaking skills in Spanish. Teaching and learning methods will include explanation, discussion, and application of new vocabulary and grammar constructs. Cultural content related to the Hispanic world will also be discussed. Students will work independently as well as in small groups in and out of the classroom to achieve the learning objectives of the course.

Given the COVID-19 situation, this course is planned as a Synchronous online course to be held via (Course Link) Zoom on Tuesdays 10-11:30 and Thursdays 10-11:30. There will NOT be a lab hour, but class will be divided between two instructors to maximize oral participation in the virtual classroom.

1.3 Timetable

6 Course Statements

6.1 B.A. Program in Spanish Studies

Students may select a minor in the Honors program in Hispanic/Spanish Studies, and are encouraged to combine their program in Spanish with a major or minor in such disciplines as natural sciences, social sciences (i.e: International Development), agriculture and arts. Spanish, with over 450 million native speakers, is among the five most widely spoken languages in the world. It is the language of Spain, Mexico, most of Central, South America, and some Caribbean islands and the African nation of Equatorial New Guinea. There are also over 30 million Spanish speakers living in the USA and another half a million in Canada.

Career Opportunities: Graduates may pursue careers in teaching at high school and university levels, translation, tourism, the hospitality industry, banking, business, journalism, international relations, and all related areas of their other major/minor.

Email Communication

As per university regulations, all students are required to check their e-mail account regularly: e-mail is the official route of communication between the University and its students.

When You Cannot Meet a Course Requirement

When you find yourself unable to meet an in-course requirement because of illness or compassionate reasons please advise the course instructor (or designated person, such as a teaching assistant) in writing, with your name, id#, and e-mail contact. The grounds for Academic Consideration are detailed in the Undergraduate and Graduate Calendars.

Copies of Out-of-class Assignments

Keep paper and/or other reliable back-up copies of all out-of-class assignments: you may be asked to resubmit work at any time.

Accessibility

The University promotes the full participation of students who experience disabilities in their academic programs. To that end, the provision of academic accommodation is a shared responsibility between the University and the student.

When accommodations are needed, the student is required to first register with Student Accessibility Services (SAS). Documentation to substantiate the existence of a disability is required; however, interim accommodations may be possible while that process is underway.

Accommodations are available for both permanent and temporary disabilities. It should be noted that common illnesses such as a cold or the flu do not constitute a disability.

Use of the SAS Exam Centre requires students to book their exams at least 7 days in advance and not later than the 40th Class Day.

For Guelph students, information can be found on the SAS website https://www.uoguelph.ca/sas

Academic Integrity

The University of Guelph is committed to upholding the highest standards of academic integrity, and it is the responsibility of all members of the University community—faculty, staff, and students—to be aware of what constitutes academic misconduct and to do as much as possible to prevent academic offences from occurring. University of Guelph students have the responsibility of abiding by the University's policy on academic misconduct regardless of their location of study; faculty, staff, and students have the responsibility of supporting an environment that encourages academic integrity. Students need to remain aware that instructors have access to and the right to use electronic and other means of detection.

Please note: Whether or not a student intended to commit academic misconduct is not relevant for a finding of guilt. Hurried or careless submission of assignments does not excuse students from responsibility for verifying the academic integrity of their work before submitting it. Students who are in any doubt as to whether an action on their part could be construed as an academic offence should consult with a faculty member or faculty advisor.
