Students, Faculty and Staff!

- Are you interested in developing skills and serving the University as a resource person or a fact finder as per the Human Rights and Sexual Violence Policies?
- The Office of Diversity and Human Rights (DHR) is seeking applications for the volunteer positions of Human Rights Fact Finders and Resource Persons.
- This is a challenging and rewarding opportunity for faculty, staff, and students to play an important role in fostering an inclusive campus because it is a shared responsibility!

Why Apply?

- All successful applicants receive comprehensive training in investigative principles and peer support through the lens of the Ontario Human Rights Code, as well as the University’s Human Rights and Sexual Violence Policies.
- All successful applicants must be available for a four-day training, to be held in Guelph April 25th-28th, 2017, inclusive.
How to Apply

Your application will include:

• A current resume/CV
• Written Acknowledgment that you are available to participate in training April 25-28, 2017
• One reference with a phone number and email
• A 500-word essay containing the following details:

1. Describe your experience with human rights issues.
2. Describe your communication skills and a time when you have used them for solving a problem.
3. What experience(s) do you have with dispute resolution?
4. What knowledge do you have of human rights principles and the University of Guelph’s human rights and sexual violence policies?
5. Describe a time when you have worked effectively with others.

Please deliver Your Application by email, in person, or by interoffice mail by 4pm Friday February 24th 2017 to:
