INTRODUCTION

This guide is provided by the Department of Economics to help you plan your program and to give information about Department facilities. It is intended for use as a supplement to the Undergraduate Calendar. Both should be read carefully before preregistering to make sure your course selections satisfy regulations and are the best ones for your goals. It is important to plan some semesters ahead, checking prerequisite requirements and the timing of course offerings, to ensure that all the desired courses may be fitted into your schedule.

The official calendar is available online at <http://www.uoguelph.ca/registrar/calendars/undergraduate/current/>

The Planning Guide is annually changed to reflect the next calendar not currently available. As students are allowed to switch into newer calendars, this guide will provide information about changes that are coming which could be attractive to you when available.

This guide is also helpful for students who may wish to change majors within related programs. We hope you will find the suggested program plans and check lists helpful in laying out the next 3 or 4 years, enabling you to meet the requirements to graduate.

GRADUATE STUDIES

The Department of Economics offers the following graduate programs; a Masters degree in Economics and a doctoral program in Economics and Economics-International Development Studies. The programs blend theory, quantitative methods and policy analysis and require students to participate in a research project or thesis. Since enrolment is limited to about 20 students per year in the Masters program and 3 to 5 in the doctoral, all qualified applicants are normally offered financial assistance and class sizes are small. Moreover, the Department encourages student-faculty interaction in both research and its highly active seminar and workshop program.

Note that you do not need to have a major in Economics to do the MA but you do need the correct undergraduate courses. (ECON*3710, ECON*3810, 3740 are required and 4640 or FIN*4100 is desired.)

M.A. ECONOMICS (8 course equivalents) and M.A. Financial Economics

To enrol in the Master's program, a student must have an honours degree with a minimum of a B+ average including ECON*3710, ECON*3810, and ECON*3740. The degree normally takes 3 semesters to complete but can be done in two.

Ph.D. ECONOMICS (All 12 course equivalents)

To enrol in the Doctoral program, a student must have an honours baccalaureate degree (minimum B+ average) and a master's degree in Economics or Agricultural Economics (minimum A- average). The degree normally takes 4 years to complete.

See the Graduate Coordinator for a detailed outline of the above graduate programs and available funding.

CAREER OPPORTUNITIES

Graduates in Economics and Management Economics have a number of career options open to them since both the public and private sectors have exciting employment opportunities. Many of our students have received positions with various government agencies as Economists and Financial Analysts. As well, our students are employed in both large and small corporations in a variety of industries with several in the financial sector particularly. A number have gone on to further studies in accountancy, M.B.A, M.A, and Ph.D. programs in a variety of institutions within and outside Ontario.

Graduates have taken the following types of jobs: See Eveline Adomait's LinkedIn Page

See the Department's "Career Board" located on the 7th Floor of the MacKinnon Building for current job postings. Career and employment links can also be found on the Department website at:
<http://www.economics.uoguelph.ca/Related%20Links/rlinks.htm>

The University provides "Career Services" through the Counselling and Student Resource Centre (Extension 52213) on the 3rd Floor of the University Centre. They are probably the best source of job-search-help on campus.
