Course Objectives

This course is taught from a learner-centered perspective, which emphasizes the exploration of meaning and content knowledge through personal and interpersonal discovery. FRHD*4200 was developed with consideration to the University of Guelph Learning Objectives. Specifically, throughout the semester in FRHD*4200, it is hope that students will:

1. Develop a global understanding of issues related to human sexuality, comprehending the variety of political, religious, cultural, biological, social, and historical forces that shape sexuality;

2. Develop an appropriate depth and breadth of understanding of key issues in human sexuality, recognizing the implications of course content and putting it into a broader context;

3. Develop skills in personal attitude recognition; become aware of personal values, biases, and beliefs regarding sexual issues;

4. Develop moral maturity related to sexual issues; specifically, understanding that aspects of human sexuality can be considered and evaluated in many ways. It is hoped that students will become more aware and accepting of the lifestyles and sexual value systems of others, especially those which are divergent from their own;

5. Develop independence of thought, and the ability to challenge accepted truths about human sexuality and think critically about sexuality as it appears in research and the media;

6. Understand the various forms of inquiry used in the study of human sexuality, and be able to assess the strengths and limitations as well as the cultural and historical impact of these forms;

7. Acquire literacy and numeracy skills related to human sexuality; specifically, be able to analyze and synthesize hypotheses about sexuality and comprehend the use of quantitative data to test such hypotheses;
8. Improve communication skills and increase comfort with communication about sexual issues and behaviour;

9. Understand the personal and practical implications of course content; becoming informed about issues related to sexuality that will aid in the development of an intelligent, responsible, and fulfilling sexual lifestyle;

10. Develop a love of learning, or intellectual curiosity, regarding human sexuality, by getting personally involved with course content, and reflecting on the personal experiences that have contributed to your development as a sexual being, and the values you hold related to sexuality;

Course Format and Approach
This 400-level Sexuality course is an issues-based course, as opposed to a survey, content course. This means that we won’t cover the breadth of the field of sexuality, but rather, examine in-depth key issues in sexuality that are current, topical, and controversial. Topics and readings have been chosen to stimulate your thinking about sexuality and challenge your beliefs, values, and attitudes. It is hoped you will approach every class with an open mind, and an attitude of respect and tolerance for those who may think differently than you do and live their lives differently than you do. That being said, I intend this course to be exciting, thought-provoking, and personally meaningful.

WARNING: DIFFICULT COURSE CONTENT
In this course we will explore and address sensitive and controversial sexual issues such as sexual abuse, sexual orientation, sexual difficulties, and variations of sexual expression to name a few. If any of these issues might create personal distress on an intellectual and or emotional level - it is advised students not enroll in this course at this time. It is also recommended, if any of the presenting topics create some concern for students, that students seek support through Counselling Services, University Centre - Level 3 South, Phone (519) 824-4120 Ext. 53244. Please consult yourself, as you are in the best position to decide whether this course is appropriate at this time.

My Responsibilities

1. Create a course curriculum that exposes students to current, topical issues in human sexuality.
2. Be honest about my values while allowing students to make up their own minds about course content.
3. Be prepared for every class.
4. Be available to communicate with students about course content, research paper, and the group presentation.
5. Respond to email messages within 48 hours.

Your Responsibilities

1. Come to class with an open mind and a non-judgemental stance.
2. Be prepared for every class by doing all required readings.
3. Be respectful of other students and guest speakers.
4. Come to class on time and stay until the end of the class period.
5. Work with group members outside of class to create an integrated, creative presentation.
6. Check D2L every 48 hours for important announcements, supplementary readings, and use D2L to communicate with other students and the instructor.
7. Complete course requirements with integrity.

Required Readings
There is no assigned textbook for this course. A selection of journal articles are available through the ARES system. See attached.

Readings Quizzes (worth 10%)
Reading quizzes will be posted online throughout the semester to ensure that students have read the articles prior to attending class. These quizzes will be multiple choice and will be available online as of the Thursday of the preceding week. Students will have 10 minutes to complete each quiz and MUST do so before coming to class on the day that the articles are covered. On average, four to six questions will be asked. Students have two free misses for readings quizzes - the student may choose which of the ten quizzes to use their two free misses. If a student opts to take all the reading quizzes, then the 2 lowest marks will be dropped.

Midterm (worth 40%)
The midterm will be held in two parts: The first will be on Tuesday, March 13th and the second part will be held on Thursday, March 15th during regular class time and will cover lecture, readings, guest speakers, movie club presentations and supplementary materials. The questions will be in a variety of formats (e.g., multiple choice, short answer, fill in the blank, matching, short essay). The test is closed-book.

In Class Peer and Guest Presentation Evaluations (worth 5%)
Throughout the semester we will have various guest presentations as well as movie club presentations from classmates. Each student will be randomly assigned to provide one presentation evaluation (out of the 4 presentations) during movie club days, to be completed online in course link for a total of 5 evaluations of movie club presentations across the semester. Additionally, for guest speaker presentations, all students will fill out a guest speaker evaluation online. The purpose of these evaluations is to provide constructive feedback for presenters and to also self-reflect and comment on the content presented.
Movie Club Presentations (worth 20%)

Working in a group (4 or 5 students), you are required to select a movie on sexuality that is of interest to you and then make a brief presentation (15 minute) on it to the class. You must post your movie selection online in the discussion forum labelled “movie choice forum” by January 25th, so that two groups do not select the same movie. Once a group has publicly selected their movie, no other group can pick it, so pick your title early and post it on courselink. If, on the presentation days, two groups have the same film, then the group that declared second or did not publicly declare their movie will get zero on the assignment. It is your responsibility to check the forum and make sure that your title was not already selected. Once you have your group and title, please email me your top 2 preferred presentation dates. The dates are assigned on a first come-first served basis. There are 4 presentation slots for each day (see course schedule for dates).

In your presentation, cover the following material:

- Basic Information about the movie:
  - Title
  - Date of publication
  - Intended audience
  - Summary of content

- Critical analysis
  - Is content consistent with what you have learned about sexuality in this or other classes?
  - How do the book’s claims or the movie representation of the topic relate to the research on this topic?
  - Do you see any biases?

- Overall quality
  - Would you recommend this book/movie to others?
  - Strengths?
  - Weaknesses?

Feel free to share anything else of interest.

You will be evaluated in terms of ability to highlight controversial and/or thought-provoking issues, critical analysis of content (which includes presenting empirical research on the topic), presentation style (creativity, preparation, pacing, tone, enthusiasm) and class interaction and engagement. Please feel free to get creative with your presentation. Note that the time limit of 15min. will be strictly enforced to ensure that each group has an equal amount of time.

Research Paper (worth 25%)

All students will be required to submit a 7-8 page (excluding references), typed, and double-spaced research-based response and critique of EITHER 1) their selected movie for the group presentation or 2) Orgasm Inc, which will be shown in class on January 23rd. Please note that while the work for your presentation is done as a group, this assignment should be completed INDIVIDUALLY. Failure to do so will be considered a breach of academic integrity and will dealt with according to university guidelines. You may decide whether you wish to cover the topic in your selected movie or that of Orgasm Inc.

The purpose of this assignment is to encourage you to apply a critical attitude to popular information in the media. To successfully write this paper, you will have to review data from journal articles related to the main ideas of the movie or book. You will then be expected to critically evaluate from a scientific Empirical perspective whether the information presented in the movie is accurate.

The paper will be graded based on three broad categories: style and format, research and quality of critique. Further details of the grading criteria are explained in detail on the grading scheme. Please remember that although you will receive a breakdown of your mark for each of the three categories, it is impossible to totally separate these. For example, if your research is inadequate, your critique will suffer because of insufficient information.

The paper is due in the dropbox labelled ‘Research paper’ by Sunday, March 4th. Late assignments will be penalized 2% per day (e.g., a paper grade of 78% that is 3 days late = final grade of 72%). Travel, computer issues, relationship problems etc. are not valid reasons for an extension.

Suggestions for writing the paper:

Some students might find that they have little experience with an assignment like this one. I am therefore providing several suggestions to get you started. Please also feel free to talk to me about your ideas or questions during my office hours.

1. Watch the movie attentively. Make sure you understand the topic presented and the central arguments or conclusions drawn.
2. Do a comprehensive literature search (on the computer) for empirically-based references relevant to these ideas using a database such as Medline and PsycInfo. It is recommended that you search multiple databases as relevant journals may be indexed in only one or the other.
3. Based on your search, read the relevant empirical literature. Avoid pop psychology references. Review articles, meta-analyses and book chapters are very useful, but sometimes do not give enough detail to allow you to evaluate specific studies. If you haven’t read the original article, don’t use it/cite it! Remember that the fact that an article is published does not mean that it is of high quality or that its conclusions are valid. There are many published studies that reach invalid conclusions based on poor experimental design, poor data analysis, and poor reasoning. To get an excellent mark, it is important to be able to distinguish good from bad empirical studies and base your conclusions accordingly. Personal opinions are interesting, but need to be supported by data or logical arguments.
4. It is impossible for me to say in advance how much research is necessary, but your paper is expected to comprehensively cover the research data. I would expect to see at least 5 empirical articles cited in your paper.
5. Draft an outline of your paper. Re-draft it until it makes sense. It usually takes me at least 5 drafts of a paper before it reads well, makes sense, and fits within the required page limits. If you get a draft of your paper outline (1 page) to me at least 2 weeks before the due date, then I will try to give you some feedback.
6. A very brief summary of the central ideas presented in the movie is all that is necessary - no more than one paragraph! Do not waste your limited space on a lengthy summary of the video. Similarly, do not try to summarize all the empirical studies you will be using in your analysis. You must learn to be selective in terms of both depth and breadth.
7. Check grammar, spelling, format, APA citation style, etc. The style/format of your paper should be set up exactly according to The Publication Manual of the American Psychological Association (sixth edition).
8. The paper is limited to 7-8 pages with 1 inch margins, and font no smaller than 12 point standard fonts. Avoid excessive use of quotes and plan your paper carefully. The reference list is not included in the page limit. I will only read the first 8 pages of your paper.

Academic Integrity: It is the student’s responsibility to ensure that assignments are completed according to the instructions provided by the Instructor. Failure to do so may result in the assignment being rejected or docked marks. Students are also responsible to ensure that they meet University standards for Academic Integrity. Please refer to the following web site on Academic Integrity: http://www.academicintegrity.uoguelph.ca/

Academic Misconduct: The University of Guelph is committed to upholding the highest standards of academic integrity and it is the responsibility of all members of the University community – faculty, staff, and students – to be aware of what constitutes academic misconduct and to do as much as possible to prevent academic offences from occurring. University of Guelph students have the responsibility of abiding by the University’s policy on academic misconduct regardless of their location of study; faculty, staff and students have the responsibility of supporting an environment that discourages misconduct. Students need to remain aware that instructors have access to and the right to use electronic and other means of detection.

Please note: Whether or not a student intended to commit academic misconduct is not relevant for a finding of guilt. Hurried or careless submission of assignments does not excuse students from responsibility for verifying the academic integrity of their work before submitting it. Students who are in any doubt as to whether an action on their part could be construed as an academic offence should consult with a faculty member or faculty advisor.

Please see the Academic Misconduct section of the Undergraduate Degree Regulations and Procedures in the University of Guelph Undergraduate Calendar. http://www.uoguelph.ca/registrar/calendars/undergraduate/current/c08/c08-amisconduct.shtml

Turnitin software: In this course, your instructor will be using Turnitin, integrated with the CourseLink Dropbox tool, to detect possible plagiarism, unauthorized collaboration or copying as part of the ongoing efforts to maintain academic integrity at the University of Guelph.

All submitted assignments will be included as source documents in the Turnitin.com reference database solely for the purpose of detecting plagiarism of such papers. Use of the Turnitin.com service is subject to the Usage Policy posted on the Turnitin.com site.

A major benefit of using Turnitin is that students will be able to educate and empower themselves in preventing academic misconduct. In this course, you may screen your own assignments through Turnitin as many times as you wish before the due date. You will be able to see and print reports that show you exactly where you have properly and improperly referenced the outside sources and materials in your assignment.

Accessibility: The University of Guelph is committed to creating a barrier-free environment. Providing services for students is a shared responsibility among students, faculty and administrators. This relationship is based on respect of individual rights, the dignity of the individual and the University community’s shared commitment to an open and supportive learning environment. Students requiring service or accommodation, whether due to an identified, ongoing disability or a short-term disability should contact the Centre for Students with Disabilities as soon as possible. Students who need course adaptations or accommodations because of disability, or who have emergency medical information to share, should speak to the instructor during the first two weeks of class to ensure that reasonable accommodations can be made. It is your responsibility to make the instructor aware of these needs, and to take any steps that may be required on your part in order to achieve reasonable accommodation. The Centre for Students with Disabilities [https://www.uoguelph.ca/csd/] is an excellent resource.

WHEN YOU CANNOT MEET COURSE REQUIREMENTS:

When you find yourself unable to meet a course requirement due to illness or compassionate reasons, please advise the course instructor in writing, with name and e-mail contact. Where possible, this should be done before the missed work or event, but otherwise, soon after the due date, and certainly no longer than one week later. Note: if appropriate documentation of your inability to meet that in-course requirement is necessary, the course instructor will request it of you.
Tentative Course Schedule

Note: Schedule may change based on speed we progress through material and guest speaker availability; however, your presentation dates will not change. It is your responsibility to check courselink 24 hours before class to note changes in class schedule.
