Course Description

The course examines management and organization practices as they are applied to typical hospitality and tourism operational issues. Significant decision points and sub-system interrelationships are emphasized.

Course Learning Outcomes

Upon successfully completing this course you will be able to:

1. Understand the role context plays in analyzing and solving operational issues
2. Determine what analysis is relevant to solving problems and how to apply such in a critical manner
3. Demonstrate an understanding of the importance of 'relationships' in analysis and decision making. (How decisions affect people)
4. Take your thoughts and ideas and communicate them in a clear and concise manner without the help of guidelines.
5. Apply a 'systems thinking' approach to solving operational issues in hospitality and tourism

6. Solve issues in a creative and innovative manner
7. Research and apply evidence-based research to provide solutions for operational issues
8. Understand the concepts of strategy and tactics in the planning process of organizations.

Academic Misconduct

The University of Guelph is committed to upholding the highest standards of academic integrity and it is the responsibility of all members of the University community, faculty, staff, and students to be aware of what constitutes academic misconduct and to do as much as possible to prevent academic offences from occurring.

University of Guelph students have the responsibility of abiding by the University's policy on academic misconduct regardless of their location of study; faculty, staff and students have the responsibility of supporting an environment that discourages misconduct. Students need to remain aware that instructors have access to and the right to use electronic and other means of detection. Please note: Whether or not a student intended to commit academic misconduct is not relevant for a finding of guilt. Hurried or careless submission of assignments does not excuse students from responsibility for verifying the academic integrity of their work before submitting it. Students who are in any doubt as to whether an action on their part could be construed as an academic offence should consult with a faculty member or faculty advisor.

The Academic Misconduct Policy is detailed in the Undergraduate Calendar:
