Clinical Studies
Temporary full-time from May 16, 2016 to May 15, 2017
Hiring #: 2016-0087

The Department of Clinical Studies is seeking applications to fill a one year Veterinary Clinical Skills internship. This position provides an individual with exposure and training related to veterinary small animal outreach activities within a veterinary educational institution. The opportunity is suitable for an individual interested in pursuing a career in Shelter medicine or a leadership role in the veterinary profession related to veterinary outreach activities. The individual filling the position will work with faculty and staff working in the OVC spay/neuter program to provide quality patient care, instruction and service to the community. Duties for the position will vary during the academic year and will include but are not limited to:

1. Assistance in the management of animals entering the OVC spay/neuter program
2. Instruction and supervision of students while participating in the OVC spay/neuter program
3. Participation in instructional laboratories and student self-directed learning exercises related to veterinary clinical medicine, anesthesia, and surgery
4. Assistance in the management of companion animals that participate in the teaching program

Qualifications: The successful applicant should have completed a DVM degree, and be eligible for a General Veterinary license within the province of Ontario. Preference will be given to individuals with experience in small animal practice with a special focus in shelter medicine and/or veterinary outreach activities.

Annual Salary: $22,000 Canadian

The deadline for applications will be March 18, 2016 or until the position is filled. Qualified applicants should submit a letter of intent, curriculum vitae and the names of three references to:
