Assistant Vice-President (Institutional Analysis and Research)

Hiring #: 2016-0145

Research-intensive and learner-centred, the University of Guelph is ranked as one of Canada’s top comprehensive universities. The University is home to 25,000 undergraduate and graduate students, and over 3,000 faculty and staff. It is known for putting the learner at the centre of all it does, for the outstanding quality of its teaching and scholarship, and for its highly collegial and collaborative culture.

The University seeks applications and expressions of interest for the role of Assistant Vice-President (Institutional Analysis and Research). Reporting to the Provost and Vice-President (Academic) and leading a staff of nine, the Assistant Vice-President will provide high quality, strategic, and quantitative analysis and support for institutional planning and decision-making in a range of areas, including strategic enrolment management, program evaluation, resource planning, and the development of key performance indicators. The office is the analytic and strategic engine of the University, facilitating informed, transparent, and data-driven decision-making, and ensuring that the University of Guelph is enhancing its competitive market position and its overall performance within the broader university system.

The new Assistant Vice-President will possess executive-level skills, with a strong background in data analysis, reporting, strategic planning, performance management, institutional budgeting, and policy development. A sophisticated understanding of university administration and policy informing post-secondary education will be critical. The University is well-known for its highly collegial nature, and the new Assistant Vice-President will bring excellent interpersonal skills, and a track record of working collaboratively with a wide range of stakeholders and colleagues.

Consideration of candidates will begin in early May, with an appointment to be made for the summer of 2016. To express an interest, please send a letter and c.v. to guelphavp@odgersberndtson.ca [2]
