

Working at the University of Guelph

Employees at the University of Guelph are an essential part of the University community. The University works hard to create and maintain a productive environment that involves a great deal of respect, fairness, and teamwork among the employees across the campuses.

In an atmosphere of academic excellence and diversity, our employees assume responsibilities that can provide opportunities for professional achievement and growth. We encourage employees to maintain the highest standards possible when performing their jobs.

When you become a University of Guelph staff or faculty member, you join a community of talented and dedicated people whose abilities, skills and actions provide essential support for the teaching and research activities for which the University is nationally recognized.

Use the menu on the right to learn more about working at the University, including information on services available to employees and the total compensation package available to staff.

Source URL: <https://www.uoguelph.ca/hr/careers-guelph/working-university-guelph>