

Confined Space Entry

Published on Human Resources (<https://www.uoguelph.ca/hr>)

Confined Space Entry

Work in confined spaces can present a significant risk for workers performing such work when appropriate precautions are not taken. Confined space accidents do not happen very often, but when they do, they are quite often fatal. To protect workers entering, working in or working near confined spaces, the University requires that such work is performed following very stringent procedures. This course provides employees with an understanding of how to perform as an entrant, attendant or competent person. Rescue planning and strategies are also discussed.

Target Audience: Employees who may be required to enter or work in confined spaces and their supervisors.

Source

URL: <https://www.uoguelph.ca/hr/about-hr/environmental-health-safety-ehs/ehs-training/course-descriptions/confined-space-entry>