- Provide direct assistance to students with preparation of resumes, cover letters, interviews skills and effective use of online career resources (i.e., LinkedIn)
- Execute focus groups, surveys and other forms of assessments to ensure that career centre services meet the needs of students across all departments within the School
- Work with student representatives from each department’s student organization and the LANG Students’ Association to collaborate on innovative programming related to career development designed from the student perspective
- Attend and provide program specific career development support to students during career/job fairs, panel and networking events and student club initiatives
- Collaborate with specific departments and student groups to develop opportunities for stakeholders (including alumni, employers and community agencies) to engage with students
- Administer and interpret a variety of formal vocational and interest assessment tools
- Assist in compiling and analyzing career-related survey data for the BComm program

Requirements of the position include:

- Completion of an Undergraduate degree in business or a related discipline along with a minimum of three (3) years career advising experience, preferably at a post-secondary institution. An equivalent combination of relevant education and experience may be considered.
- Completion of Career Development Practitioner Certification is preferred
- Proven ability to build and maintain effective relationships and/or success in business development
- Career advising skills to effectively assess student needs, career outcomes and goals
- Solid background in job search techniques, resume writing, and interview skills
- Excellent communication skills, both in listening and relaying information
- Highly developed presentation and group facilitation skills to speak publicly and respond to specific questions to large groups within the University community and to external stakeholders
Well-developed interpersonal, and relationship building skills; with the ability to establish rapport with students, employers, and faculty/staff

Knowledge of current occupational, educational and employment opportunities and be cognizant of present and future labour market trends; including professional business specific designations/certifications

Strong commitment to providing excellent client service and being an effective team player

Demonstrated professionalism and ability to handle confidential and sensitive material with tact and diplomacy, exercise discretion and judgement at all times

An understanding of academic programs, university policies and procedures, and administrative systems will be considered an asset

Familiarity with virtual meeting platforms (i.e., MS Teams, Zoom, WebEx) and strong computer skills, including advanced knowledge of Microsoft Office products is essential
