

The Roy C. Anderson Memorial Lecture In Parasitology

College of Biological Science
University of Guelph, Guelph, Canada

Professor Jay S. Keystone, MD, MSc (CTM), FRCP(C)

Professor of Medicine
Faculty of Medicine, University of Toronto

“Imported Exotic Infectious Diseases in Canada:
coming to a neighbourhood near you”

Tuesday, October 25th 2005
at 12.15 pm

Room 1714, OVC Learning Centre, University of Guelph

Prof. Keystone has received a large number of academic/professional Awards and Scholarships including two very prestigious academic awards – the Cody Gold Medal, Faculty of Medicine, University of Toronto, and the F.J. Murgatroyd Award, London School of Hygiene and Tropical Medicine, University of London. He has served in various capacities in developing countries, and his activities in scientific societies include being Presidents of the ‘Canadian Society of Tropical Medicine and International Health’, and the ‘International Society of Travel Medicine’.

All are invited to an informal reception for Dr. J.S. Keystone, to be held at 11.45 am on October 25th in the foyer, OVC Learning Centre.

This annual lecture is open to students, faculty, staff and the general public. It is co-sponsored by the College of Biological Science, Mrs. P. Anderson, Roy’s former students, and friends. More information on Dr. Keystone’s visit can be obtained from Professor Patrick T.K. Woo [(519) 824-4120 ext. 53581; pwoo@uoguelph.ca].