Join a Club

There are lots of ways to exercise your international interests on-campus and joining a club is a great way to meet people, learn a language, find travelling companions or learn more about the cultures represented on our campus.

There's a wide range of existing clubs from the Egypt Friendship Club to the Arab Students Association and Engineers Without Borders. If you can't find what you are looking for, find out about starting your own student club. More information can be found on the Central Students Association Clubs Page [1]
