General Information

Course Title: Psychology Seminar

Course Description:

You have learned a lot about a lot of things psychological: the brain, social behaviour, development, psychopathology . . . You have developed methodological and statistical skills and you have put them to use. But now it is time to look at the ‘big picture.’ What is it all about? How has psychological science contributed to knowledge in general and to your knowledge in particular? What big questions remain unanswered? How can we have better theories? What are the best methods and the best analytic approaches? That is what this course is about. Through reading and discussion, and by presenting written and oral arguments, you will address these questions and come up with some answers, however tentative.

Additional Notes (if required):

1. Students will be randomly assigned to small discussion groups each week.

2. You are STRONGLY advised to come prepared with in-depth knowledge of the readings and discussion questions in hand.

3. The instructor and the TA will visit with the groups to observe and aid in facilitation of discussion. Group members will mark each other with respect to the identified learning outcomes for group discussion.

4. The instructor and teaching assistant use the senate guidelines (https://www.uoguelph.ca/registrar/calendars/undergraduate/2016-2017/c08/c08-grds-proc.shtml) to define grading standards for each assignment. Those grading standards will be made available to students when an assignment is given.

5. The instructor checks email once a day during the week and he does not check email on weekends.

6. The instructor and TA will not respond to questions that can be answered by consulting the course syllabus, assignment documents, course-relevant emails, news items, in-class announcements, and instructor/TA postings in discussion forums.
7. If you have questions and/or concerns about how you were graded by the TA on one of your essays, contact the TA. If you are dissatisfied with the outcome of your discussion(s) with the TA, you can ask the instructor for a re-grade. Please be advised that your mark could go up or down and that the new grade will be final. If you wish to be re-graded, send the instructor an email and indicate three things: 1. You have followed up with the TA who marked you. 2. You are not satisfied with the outcome of your discussion(s) and you wish to be re-graded. 3. You are aware that your mark could go up or down and that the new grade will be final.

Course Policies

Grading Policies

Late assignments will be given a grade of zero. No allowance will be made for failure to take note of the deadlines, misremembering deadlines, forgetting to submit, failure to confirm successful submission, failure to submit in one of the allowed formats, computer problems, and/or mechanical problems of any other kind. It is therefore highly recommended that assignments be submitted, and checked for successful submission, well before posted deadlines. Do not email TAs and/or the instructor your assignments. Any such emails will be ignored. It is also highly recommended that students back up their work. Catastrophic computer failures occur and no allowance will be made for such an eventuality.

Failure to attend class to participate in a group discussion will result in a mark of zero on group discussion for the date in question.
Course Policy on Group Work:

As alluded to above, this course runs well only if students arrive on time, having done the required readings, with discussion questions in hand.

Course Policy regarding use of electronic devices and recording of lectures:

Electronic recording of classes is expressly forbidden without consent of the instructor. When recordings are permitted, they are solely for the use of the authorized student and may not be reproduced, or transmitted to others, without the express written consent of the instructor.

Academic Misconduct

The University of Guelph is committed to upholding the highest standards of academic integrity and it is the responsibility of all members of the University community, faculty, staff, and students to be aware of what constitutes academic misconduct and to do as much as possible to prevent academic offences from occurring.

University of Guelph students have the responsibility of abiding by the University's policy on academic misconduct regardless of their location of study; faculty, staff and students have the responsibility of supporting an environment that discourages misconduct. Students need to remain aware that instructors have access to and the right to use electronic and other means of detection. Please note: Whether or not a student intended to commit academic misconduct is not relevant for a finding of guilt. Hurried or careless submission of assignments does not excuse students from responsibility for verifying the academic integrity of their work before submitting it. Students who are in any doubt as to whether an action on their part could be construed as an academic offence should consult with a faculty member or faculty advisor.

In this course, your instructor will be using Turnitin, integrated with the CourseLink Dropbox tool, to detect possible plagiarism, unauthorized collaboration or copying as part of the ongoing efforts to maintain academic integrity at the University of Guelph.
All submitted assignments will be included as source documents in the Turnitin.com reference database solely for the purpose of detecting plagiarism of such papers. Use of the Turnitin.com service is subject to the Usage Policy posted on the Turnitin.com site.
