PSYC*2310, Course Outline: Winter 2016

General Information

Course Title: Introduction to Social Psychology

Course Description:
Social psychology will be explored in lectures, class activities, and assignments. The course will focus on five Big Ideas in social psychology: the influence of social norms, the need to belong, personal perspective differences, the need for consistency, and mental shortcuts. Using those five Big Ideas, and various aspects of those ideas, students will analyze social behaviour and communicate their analyses in class activities and in writing.

Credit Weight: 0.50

Additional Notes:

1. There is no textbook. Instead, there are assigned readings of various kinds (novels, research articles, newspaper articles, magazine articles, books, etc.).

2. The instructor checks email once a day during the week and he does not check email on weekends.

3. The instructor and TAs will not respond to questions that can be answered by consulting the course syllabus, notes of in-class announcements, assignment documents, emails, news items, and instructor/TA postings in on-line discussion forums (see Learning Outcome #8).

4. Your (randomly) assigned group in-class work date for the Need to Belong part of the course cannot be altered. Group composition cannot be altered.

Final examination date and time: There is no final exam.

Final exam weighting: Not Applicable

Course Resources

Required Texts:

This book is most relevant to the Big Idea 2: “The Need to Belong”

This book is most relevant to the Big Idea 4: “The Need for Consistency”

All texts are available for purchase in the bookstore. The Festinger and Riecken book is also available electronically through the library.

In addition, together the class will select five works of fiction, any number of which can be used for the final assignment (i.e., students can use 1, 2, 3, 4, or all 5 books; there is no necessary correspondence between the number of books used and the grade a student receives). Students will be responsible for gaining reliable access to the books, though it is anticipated that the books will be available for purchase from local bookstores and on-line.

There will be a number of research articles that will be required reading. All of those materials and will be available on the course website.

Recommended Texts: None

Lab Manual: Not applicable.

Other Resources:

A great deal of course material (readings, media links, assignment details etc.) will be made available solely on the course website on Courselink. On-line quizzes will take place on Courselink. Assignments will be submitted via dropbox on Courselink. It is highly recommended that students visit the course website everyday for information and updates.

Course Policies

Grading Policies

1. All papers will be marked holistically (i.e., there are no detailed rubrics in which total marks are ‘broken down’). A letter grade will be assigned. That letter grade will equate to a numerical grade. The possible grades on any assignment are: A++ (100%), A+ (95%), A (85%), B (75%), C (65%), D (55%), F (45%), Incomplete (0%). The instructor and teaching assistants use the senate guidelines (https://www.uoguelph.ca/registrar/calendars/undergraduate/2015-2016/c08/c08-grds-proc.shtml) to aid in their determination of grading standards for each assignment. Those assignment-specific grading standards will be made available to students when an assignment is posted.

2. If you have questions and/or concerns about how you were graded by a TA, contact the TA who marked you. If you are dissatisfied with the outcome of your discussion(s) with the TA, you can ask the instructor for a re-grade. Please be advised that your mark could go up or down and that the new grade will be final. If you wish to be re-graded, send the instructor an email and indicate three things: 1. You have followed up with the TA who marked you. 2. You are not satisfied with the outcome of your discussion(s) and you wish to be re-graded. 3. You are aware that your mark could go up or down and that the new grade will be final.

3. Except for re-grade requests (see #2 above), the instructor does not engage in email exchanges about grading. Please visit the instructor during his office hours for all other grading matters.

4. There are no make-up dates for quizzes. Failure to take a quiz will result in a grade of zero on the quiz.

5. All members of a group will receive the same mark on their written submission. One submission per group.

6. Late assignments will not be accepted and a grade of zero will be assigned. No allowance will be made for failure to take note of a deadline, misremembering a deadline, forgetting to submit, failure to confirm successful submission, failure to submit in one of the allowed formats, computer problems, and/or mechanical problems of any other kind. It is therefore highly recommended that assignments be submitted, and checked for successful submission, well before posted deadlines. Do not email TAs and/or the instructor your assignments. Any such emails will be ignored. It is also highly recommended that students back up their work. Catastrophic computer failures occur and no allowance will be made for such an eventuality.

7. Due to the nature of the course and the nature of some assessments, absence from class (and lack of full participation) will result in a lower final grade than would have been obtained otherwise. Please note in particular: You will be randomly assigned to a group for the Need to Belong part of the course. Your group will be assigned a date to attend class so that your group work can be observed and marked by the TAs and the instructor. Failure to attend that day will result in you receiving a mark of zero on “The Need to Belong: Quality of Group’s In-Class Work.” Only group members in attendance on their designated day can receive a mark.

8. Any student who contributes a suggestion about the administration of the course that is put into practice by the instructor, or who contributes useful information about social psychology that the instructor uses in the course, will be awarded a bonus point (Helping the Course; see also Learning Outcome #8). A maximum of one bonus point per student will be awarded.

Course Policy on Group Work:

It is expected that all members of a group will participate fully in all group activities. Students will be assessed by the instructor, TAs, and their peers in accordance with this expectation.
Course Policy regarding use of electronic devices and recording of lectures:

Electronic recording of classes is expressly forbidden without consent of the instructor. When recordings are permitted they are solely for the use of the authorized student and may not be reproduced, or transmitted to others, without the express written consent of the instructor.

University Policies

Academic Consideration

When you find yourself unable to meet an in-course requirement because of illness or compassionate reasons, please advise the course instructor in writing, with your name, id#, and e-mail contact. See the academic calendar for information on regulations and procedures for Academic Consideration:

Academic Consideration, Appeals and Petitions

Academic Misconduct

The University of Guelph is committed to upholding the highest standards of academic integrity and it is the responsibility of all members of the University community, faculty, staff, and students to be aware of what constitutes academic misconduct and to do as much as possible to prevent academic offences from occurring.

University of Guelph students have the responsibility of abiding by the University's policy on academic misconduct regardless of their location of study; faculty, staff and students have the responsibility of supporting an environment that discourages misconduct. Students need to remain aware that instructors have access to and the right to use electronic and other means of detection. Please note: Whether or not a student intended to commit academic misconduct is not relevant for a finding of guilt. Hurried or careless submission of assignments does not excuse students from responsibility for verifying the academic integrity of their work before submitting it. Students who are in any doubt as to whether an action on their part could be construed as an academic offence should consult with a faculty member or faculty advisor.

In this course, your instructor will be using Turnitin, integrated with the CourseLink Dropbox tool, to detect possible plagiarism, unauthorized collaboration or copying as part of the ongoing efforts to maintain academic integrity at the University of Guelph.

All submitted assignments will be included as source documents in the Turnitin.com reference database solely for the purpose of detecting plagiarism of such papers. Use of the Turnitin.com service is subject to the Usage Policy posted on the Turnitin.com site.
The Academic Misconduct Policy is detailed in the Undergraduate Calendar:

Academic Misconduct Policy

Accessibility

The University of Guelph is committed to creating a barrier-free environment. Providing services for students is a shared responsibility among students, faculty and administrators. This relationship is based on respect of individual rights, the dignity of the individual and the University community's shared commitment to an open and supportive learning environment. Students requiring service or accommodation, whether due to an identified, ongoing disability or a short-term disability should contact the Centre for Students with Disabilities as soon as possible.
