Creative Writing

The Master of Fine Arts (MFA) Program in Creative Writing is designed to prepare students for careers in creative writing, by exploring and developing their skills as writers, and providing them with a wide range of opportunities to connect with the arts and culture community. Critically acclaimed writers and literary professionals participate in the program as workshops instructors, mentors and visitors. Through its master classes, workshops and plenary courses, the MFA Program aims to assist new writers in locating their work in both a global and a national context. Students will pursue the program on a full-time basis. The program has been designed to facilitate completion within two years.

MFA Program

Admission Requirements

The normal minimum requirement for admission to the MFA Program is a baccalaureate degree, in an honours program or the equivalent, from a recognized degree-granting institution. There are no requirements as to the discipline in which the degree was earned. Successful applicants will be expected to have achieved an average standing of at least second-class honours (B-) in their last four semesters of study. A limited number of students, however, may be admitted to the MFA without having satisfied the degree requirement and/or academic standing requirements set out above if they are assessed as qualified to undertake graduate studies in creative writing on the basis of other experience and/or practice.

Admissions Portfolio

Applicants will be selected for admission to the MFA Program primarily on the basis of a portfolio and a letter of no more than three pages describing the applicant's aspirations as a writer and an indication of the genres in which he/she is most interested. The portfolio should be between 25 and 40 pages in length and may contain published and/or unpublished work and/or work-in-progress. It must include a minimum of three separate works (or excerpts from separate works). Applicants are strongly encouraged to submit works in more than one genre, e.g., fiction and poetry. Considerations of balance over the program as a whole, with respect to genres in which applicants are particularly interested and demonstrate special strength, will have some impact on admission decisions.

Degree Requirements

Students will take one workshop and one plenary course in the first (fall) semester of study; one workshop in the second (winter) semester; the individual study course in the third (summer) semester; and one workshop and a second plenary course in the fourth (fall) semester. The remaining two semesters of the two-year program will be devoted to the thesis. With permission, MFA students may choose to take one or two courses at the University of Guelph - e.g., MA courses in the School of English and Theatre Studies.

Courses

For courses without a semester designation the student should consult the graduate co-ordinator.

CRWR*6000 Plenary Course: Writers on Writing F [0.50]

All students in the program are required to take the plenary course. Students will engage with theories of creative writing proposed by such writers as Henry James, Virginia Woolf, Anton Chekhov, Milan Kundera, Octavio Paz, John Gardner, Nicole Brossard, and a great many others, including contemporary writers from Canada and abroad who will participate in the course as visitors. This course will examine how writers understand and describe their own creative processes and aims and how they create or respond to the theories of their time.

Prerequisite(s): Restricted to MFA.CW Students

CRWR*6100 Poetry Workshop F-W [0.50]

The Poetry Workshop engages students in a reading and writing intensive program of work. The workshops will be strongly focused on writing and on responding to the work of students in the course with productive, constructive criticism. Students will have the opportunity to work closely with a nationally recognized poet to develop their own skills as poets and editors. Students are expected to read widely and to develop their understanding of the technical aspects of their craft.

CRWR*6200 Fiction Workshop F-W [0.50]

The Fiction Workshop engages students in a reading and writing intensive program of work. The workshops will be strongly focused on writing and on responding to the work of students in the course with productive, constructive criticism. Students will have the opportunity to work closely with a nationally recognized author to develop their skills as writers and editors. Students are expected to read widely and to develop their understanding of the technical aspects of their craft.

CRWR*6300 Drama Workshop U [0.50]

The Drama workshop is writing- and reading-intensive. Students will produce a substantial amount of dramatic writing and will also provide constructive criticism of the work of other workshop participants. Required reading will cover a wide range of dramatic literature and the study of dramatic forms and techniques.

Prerequisite(s): Restricted to MFA.CW Students

CRWR*6400 Practicum in Creative Writing U [0.50]

In this course of guided study, the student will work on a creative project with a mentor who is a recognized member of the professional writing community.

CRWR*6500 Non-Fiction Workshop U [0.50]

The Non-Fiction Workshop engages students in a reading- and writing-intensive program of creative non-fiction. The workshops will be strongly focused on writing and will involve the creation and revision of a substantial body of new work in the genre, as well as critiquing the work of other students in the course. The reading component will focus on texts from a varied social and cultural range (e.g. family memoir, travel narrative, cultural memoir, themed mediation).

Workshops

Students are required to take three workshops over the course of the program; the genres in which workshops will be offered are fiction, poetry, drama, screenwriting, and creative non-fiction. Students are also required to ensure through their selection of workshops that they work in a minimum of two separate genres and are strongly encouraged to take workshops that include work in at least three genres. The workshops will be strongly focused on writing, but each will also incorporate a substantial reading component.

Plenary Courses

Plenary courses will be offered each year in the fall semester, and students are required to take two. These courses are intended in part to provide a forum for visiting writers and other literary professionals. Each course will also have a substantial component addressing practical matters associated with the progress of a writer's career.

Individual Study Course

The individual study course, required in the third (summer) semester of the program, pairs each student with a mentor. It is intended to install within the curriculum a critical opportunity to address the variable learning needs of individual students. For some students, it will be primarily a reading course, with practice in writing in relation to particular models. For the majority of students, however, it is likely to be an intensive writing course that will allow for additional work in the genre that interests them most, or to explore the possibilities of another genre.

Thesis

The thesis is the single most important component of the MFA Program. The thesis may be a novel, a book-length manuscript of poems, a collection of short stories, a full-length play or screenplay, or a memoir. The standard to be applied is that the thesis should be of publishable quality in the estimation of the examiners.
