PARKINSON'S DISEASE PROJECT

Are you living with Parkinson's disease?

We are conducting a study at the University of Guelph to explore the relationship between performance and perceived fatigue in individuals with Parkinson's disease.

Eligibility criteria:

- People with or without Parkinson's
- No history of stroke, or neuromuscular disease
- No current lower-body injury
- No history of knee replacement
- No skin allergy to adhesive tape or gel
- Able to use an exercise machine
- Between the ages of 45-90 years

What's involved?

- A short phone screening to confirm eligibility
- 2 in-person visits at the University of Guelph (about 4 hours in total)
- This includes a free DEXA scan!
